LAST EDITION.

New York.

Bowen and Plymouth Church—From Washington—Treasurer.

New York, Nov. 13.—It is reported that a movement is on foot in Plymouth Church to have Henry C. Bowen's name dropped from the roll of membership, as has been done in the case of Mrs. Moulton and Deacon West. Bowen says he will not be driven from the Church, but will most certainly defend himself.

A Washington special says it seems probable that Mr. New, United States Treasurer, will be forced by pressure of private business to retire from office within the next few weeks. A vigorous policy will be recommended in dealing with Spain, in regard to Cuban. Negotiations are known to be in progress between the representative men from Cuba, Porto Rico, St. Domingo and Hayti, looking to a compact to unite them under one government.

Several heavy failures in the butter trade were announced, which are attributed to the shrinkage of values and a general depression in the business. Armstrong & Morrison made an assignment. Their liabilities amount to about $50,000. Fairfield & Trask, occupying a part of the same store, also made an assignment. They suspended two weeks ago, but obtained an extension from their creditors. Their exact condition is not known.

Q. S. Doremus & Co., of Greenwich street, have suspended, but expect to resume business again. Liabilities unknown.

M. D. Conklin, of Chambers street, has made an assignment. Liabilities estimated at $20,000. He is expected to pay 40 cents on the dollar.

The following failures in other trades are also announced: Paul & Hovey, wood merchants, of Fulton street; Bayley & Schwartzkopf, tobacconists, Water street; Higgins, unknown.

The London Trial—The Old Scandal to be Fully Revised.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 13.—The case of Joseph Loader, under indictment for alleged perjury, in making false affirmations to prove criminality between Henry Ward Beecher and Mrs. Tilton, and in whose behalf a motion was made in the City Court last week, for a commission to take the evidence of Mr. and Mrs. James Richards, Judge Moore rendered a decision granting the motion and appointed John W. Taylor a lawyer of Newark as such commissioner.

Loader's counsel said he should probably apply for orders to take testimony in other States. He thought the trial of Loader, if the case was pushed to trial by the District Attorney, would call for the evidence of nearly all of the parties not previously examined, who are said to possess information bearing upon the issue between Beecher and Tilton.

He expressed the belief that Miss Susan B. Anthony, Miss Laura Curtis, Mrs. Ballard, Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Mrs. Bradshaw, Theodore Tilton, Francis D. Moulton and wife and Henry C. Bowen would be called as witnesses. Besides these, Miss Florence Tilton and Frank Carpenter might be called if it was found necessary. The District Attorney intimates his determination to bring the case to trial, unless some unforeseen circumstance transpires, and the case in its present aspect indicates a probability of the resurrection of the great scandal.

Killed in a Paper Mill.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 13.—Daniel Emery, a watchman in the paper mill at Bristol, New Hampshire, was killed this morning by falling into the gearing of a machine. He was 39 years old, and leaves a family.

Not Guilty.

HUDSON, N. Y., Nov. 13.—The trial of Mrs. Eliza A. Stone, for the alleged poisoning of her husband, has occupied the attention of the Court here during the whole week. The case, which has been stubbornly contested on both sides by a long array of counsel, was given to the jury last evening, who returned a verdict at 9 P. M. of not guilty.

The Revival.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—The revival movement is gaining strength in this city. Meetings are now being held at several Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist churches, and considerable interest is already manifested, with many additions to the various churches. The coming of Moody and Saker in January is anticipated with great interest by the religious community.

The Lost Steamers.

NO HOPES FOR THE WACO PEOPLE.

GALVESTON, TEXAS, Nov. 13.—Nothing new has yet been heard of any of the passengers or crew of the City of Waco.

The statements of those on board the other vessels lying in the neighborhood of the burning vessel say that no boats could have been launched from the Waco, owing to the rapid spread of the fire and the rough water. All agree as to hearing the voices of women in the water, and some half dozen persons were seen clinging to floating spars in the water. The appearance of fire was followed by several explosions in rapid succession, probably the cans of coal oil on the deck low. The beam of the vessel was seen to be in flames, which finally burned low as the inflammable material was exhausted. The pilot and sail boats are searching along the west coast for survivors.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Mr. Griswold, a well-known merchant, whose mysterious disappearance caused great uneasiness and apprehension of foul play, has been heard from. He is visiting a daughter out of the city.

Wells & Co., and other claimants, Judge Ballard, of the Louisville Circuit, has ordered the restitution of the property to the claimants. It has been seized for violation of the revenue laws, and was valued at $200,000.

Foreign News.

ON THE CONTINENT.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—The dissolution of the National Assembly is expected in February.

BRILLIN, Nov. 13.—A new pamphlet, in reference to the prosecution of Count Von Arnim, has made its appearance in this city. It is devoted principally to the calumniation of the Emperor and Empress.

IN THE DOMINION.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 13.—The Globe's London special says that at the half-yearly meeting of the Great Western Railroad company, held on the 14th inst., the President alluded at length to the falling off of traffic and receipts.

ST. JOHN'S, N. B., Nov. 13.—About 10,000 tons of shipping are now in the harbor, or about the same as at this date last year.

MONTREAL, Nov. 13.—Mayor Hunkaton has succeeded in making such definite arrangements for the funeral of Guibord as to remove almost entirely the danger of a disturbance. The funeral will take place shortly, and every priest has requested his parishioners not to attend, and to desist from any attempt at disturbance. Unless Dantre insists on a public procession there will be no trouble.

ASHORE.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 13.—A report comes from Charlottetown that the ship James Duncan and the bark Katie McDonald, bound for Prince Edward's Island from London with a good cargo, and another ship, name unknown, are ashore at St. Peter's Island, near Charlottetown.

Rismarek lives in the Foreign Office, No. 70 Wilhelmstrasse. Before a mahogany desk with drawers, the great Chancellor is accustomed to sit in a cushioned arm-chair, with his Secretary placed opposite him on a leather-bottomed stool. How many diplomats have stood before that desk as before a gambling table, and there lost their stake! There are no books in the room; but a complete collection of pipes, helmets, boxes of cigars, sabers and swords and gloves lie about loose. A big sofa, upon which the Prince reads the papers after dinner, is a permanent piece of furniture, as is also the new map of Alsace and Lorraine.

The last one comes from Warren. He came all the way to get a tooth pulled that had robbed him of four nights' sleep. He sat down, and just as the doctor was applying his forceps, changed the expression of his face and said, "Look here, Doc, how much is this business going to cost a fellow?" "Fifty cents," replied the doctor. "Can't you do it for less?" said the man with the toothache. "No," "Then we can't trade," said the sufferer, and he rode back to Warren county.

Most of the sporting men are contributing $50 toward a monument for American Girl, and most of the great statesmen are, in a spirit of rivalry, going to contribute toward a monument for Washington. So far, American Girl's chances are 200 feet higher than Washington's.

A Paris paper gives a conversation between a father and his little daughter: "What have you done with your doll?" "I have put it away to keep for my children when I grow up." "But if you shouldn't have any?" "Ah, well, then, it will do for my grandchildren."

A Brooklyn girl is engaged to be married to an Italian count, and in the course of four or five years she may be looked for on the street with a hand organ, playing the usual tunes.

Notes in the Police Court.

"Bah!"
"John Brooks, you are charged with stealing a saddle of mutton of the value of $1.50 from a butcher on Clinton street. How is this?"

"I'm not guilty."
"Where did you get it?"

"I purchased it, but really I was so intoxicated that I don't know where I bought it."

"What did you buy it for?"
"Money."

"No; what did you want of it? You have no home."

"Well, now, it strikes me that I've got a wife and two children."

"You have, eh? Is your wife a confiding sort of a woman? Does she believe everything you tell her?"

"Oh, yes! I can shut her eye up pretty easy!"

"Well, then, you just send her a postal card and say that you've got a job out in the country, for there's where you're going now. Make it 30 days and $25."

"John Wilson Smith, have you got anything to say in extenuation of the charge against you?"

"What of it? I've got agin' me, anyhow?"

John is one of those snooters who make their beds in brick-yards, and lunch round. A lazy, dirty, unconcerned and altogether wretched piece of humanity who won't die, and is not fit to live.

"Why, the officer
